

RELIANT S-RODS

S710-4+

The S710 is the perfect all-round ultralight spinning rod. It is packable and an excellent choice for lake and stream fishing for trout and char. This rod will handle the lightest lipped plugs and spinners. Spoons and similar hardware up to 20 grams go long when the rod is configured with the long butt section. The S710 packs down to approximately 50cm.

S810-4+

The S810 is the first of two true Seatrout rods in the "S" series and is designed for light coastal fishing. It serves equally well in lake situations when casting heavier lures for inland trout and char. When configured with the long handle it is possible to really reach out with extreme long casts even when using lighter hardware in the 10-15 gram range. The S810 pack down to approximately 60cm and comes with two interchangeable screw-in butt sections.

S910-5+

S910-5+

The S910 is just under 10' in length when configured with the long butt section and is the heaviest of the "S" series rod range. This rod will handle all but the heaviest coastal fishing situations. How many times have you wished you could stand on the beach or even comfortably wade and cover a reef, broken bottom or any target you need to be able to reach? The S910 is a great all-round Seatrout rod and you can really reach out with this rod. The fast, progressive action combines power with super touch and control in all conditions. Rated up to 30 grams, the S910 performs remarkably well with all swimming lures in its class. It packs down to approximately 55cm and comes with two interchangeable screw-in butt sections.

RELIANT M-ROD

M910-5+

For those who prefer the direct contact a multiplier reel provides, the M910-5+ features a blank similar to the S910 with a light, parabolic action. This is a rare rod in its class and will please the most discriminating angler. At just under 10' the M910 rated to 35 grams and loads deeply to deliver long casts with extreme touch. Seatrout anglers who prefer the spool contact a multiplier provides will love the features built into this rod. There are very few trigger-grip casting rods built in this long, light configuration and this modern version performs at the top of its class. The blank has a parabolic action, but the tip is quick and gives super touch and control in all situations. The M910 packs down to approximately 55cm.

Length: 9'10"
Pcs: 5+
Lure Weight: 14-35gr
Action: Fast-Progressive-tip
Power: Medium-light

RELIANT SX-RODS

SX2

The SX2 is designed specifically for Seatrout in Scandinavian coastal waters. This high-performance rod will perfectly handle as lures in class and the quick action gives instant contact and hook-set – particularly with braid. The sensitivity is unparalleled and the angler feels every nudge and even most misses register with this high-tech blank. The SX2 packs down to 60cm and comes with the characteristic Reliant handle.
